Bates/Volume numbers to be provided. Any additional responsive documents will be provided prior to the Court-ordered date, including line of duty records, press inquiry records, etc.. Defendants previously produced news articles and press inquiries responsive to this request - See Defendants' production, Vol. 035. Defendants previouslsy produced emails, details, command logs, SPRINTS, and MAPC records responsive to this request. Defendants have searched for and located documents concerning LRAD activation and documents concerning dispersal orders or other warnings, including MAPC worksheets, additional documents responsive to this request and are processing the documents located for production by the Court-ordered deadline. Defendants have searched for TRIs, TARU video, and Aviation Unit Video for each Protest Location listed on Plaintiffs' Schedule A and are processing the documents located for production by the Court-ordered deadline. Defendants have already produced all body-worn camera ("BWC") videos recorded by officers in connection with the events alleged by each of the consolidated plaintiffs, and for all individually-named defendant officers allegedly involved in said incidents with plaintiffs, plus BWC videos from other officers in close physical proximity to plaintiffs and the named defendants at the time of those alleged events, where possible; additionally, defendants have produced BWC footage for all defendant officers from all 83 protests on Schedule A for which they were present for any amount of time, as well as for all other officers whom plaintiffs have deposed to date, including non-party witnesses. Defendants are in the process of completing a search for MAPC documents AIDED Reports, and MTPs for each Protest Location listed on Plaintiffs' Schedule A and are processing the documents located for production by the Court-ordered deadline. Responve documents can be found in: VOL002_Confidential VOL005_Not Confidential VOL008_Confidential	As to plaintiffs' request set forth in Subsection 8(h) for all BWC footage from each one of the more than 83 protests listed on Schedule A, defendants object to this request on the ground that it would be unduly burdensome for defendants to locate, identify and produce the requested information, and that the request is not proportional to the needs of the case.	As to Subsection 8(h), it would be unduly burdensome for defendants to search for, identify, and produce all BWC videos in existence from every officer who was present for any portion of every single one of the more than 83 protests on Schedule A. First, defendants note that while the table in Schedule A contains only 83 rows and 83 corresponding "Protest Numbers," some entries in that table actually refer to multiple protests as they indicate a time period covering multiple dates, such as "Protest No. 63," which refers to all protests at a specified location from "June 23-30, 2020." Second, because plaintiffs have not identified any specific time frames, such as approximate start time to end time for the protests on Schedule A, where there was this only information provided to defendants -- in the absence of, e.g., the name of a plaintiff or any police officer -- defendants would be forced to undertake an enormous, labor-intensive, and incredibly time-consuming and wasteful effort to search for and attempt to identify all videos from the alleged protest. This is because: (a) without any particular hours to enter into the Evidence.com BWC database, the NYPD would have to conduct an unlimited, 24-hour search for all BWC videos for each such date on Schedule A, and then review all BWC video results individually to determine which might contain footage of the location indicated, in order to begin narrowing down the number of possible BWC videos from the protest indicated (notably, a search of the Evidence.com database conducted on 4/15/2022 for all BWC videos recorded City-wide on June 14, 2020 yielded over 10,000 videos, each of which NYPD would need to review individually, at least in part, to determine which were responsive); (b) only a fraction of NYPD officers had been issued the most updated body camera models in summer 2020, the Axon Body Camera-3 ("AB-3") -- which is the only type of BWC videos it is possible to search for by location in Evidence.com -- meaning that the overwhelming majority of all BWC footage

	DR No. 37	Provide all Documents concerning complaints, made at any time, alleging NYPD excessive force and use of racial epithets during policing of each protest listed in Request No. 36.	Defendants will provide electronically saved documents concerning complaints of excessive force, and racial epithets to the extent possible, during the mentioned protests from 2004-on, as previously agreed	Overly burdensome and not proportional to the needs of the case	Records prior to 2012 are not in electronic format, therefore difficult to search; files are not in electronic format and paper copies are in storage in one of three places. Depending on if they were indexed clearly and properly, they may be difficult to locate. From 2012 through 2018, "outside guidelines" files are paper only, some are in storage, and the same issues as above apply. Logs, however, and not the entire files, are available in electronic format, but contain limited information. Moreover, the search functionality of the electronic system is limited. Excessive force complaints are a searchable category, however "racial epithets" is not. Moreover, it is unclear if date of incident is a searchable category, making it difficult to limit the searches to a particular date of incident. In order to find complaints of use of racial epithets, each complaint would have to be individually reviewed for that information. It is estimated that it would take at least 250 hours to search for all requested documents, plus an additional 150 hours to review, redact, and produce them.
